WHAT'S INCLUDED?

PHASE 1 DESIGN

- We kick off your Design phase with a focused onsite workshop to capture your detailed use cases and requirements.
- In addition to understanding your requirements, we will also share sample online and print designs that you are free to modify and incorporate into your user awareness materials.
- The workshop is followed by close collaboration with your team to arrive at an agreed-upon architecture and design that will become the blueprint for your implementation.

PHASE 2 IMPLEMENT

- Our Ping consultant will set up and configure PingID in up to three environments using the authentication requirements agreed on in the Design phase.
- We'll also work with you to schedule a pilot test of the solution so that you will be ready when it comes time for the full rollout.

PHASE 3 VALIDATE

- Using the newly configured system as a foundation, we will walk your stakeholder team through the solution so that your full team is aligned for the remaining steps.

PHASE 4 INTEGRATE

- During integration, our Ping team will work closely with your technical and business stakeholder teams to conduct a pilot test and update launch materials in preparation for rollout.

PHASE 5 LAUNCH

- When your new environment is ready to go live, we will complete our coaching and enablement of your IAM team on the implemented solution, complete with transition materials, technical references and points of contact at Ping.
- We will also remain engaged for the first week of operation to provide dedicated assistance for your team to help the launch go smoothly.

ADD-ON PingID Use Case

- This engagement allows up to five use cases. However, if you have more use cases you would like to include in the initial rollout, we can add those to the scope. Please speak with your Ping Identity Account Executive.
